Le Livre Noir De La Gauche
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time, and his red face indicates his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly learns that he had been skipped school that afternoon and went to Miss Watson’s house, where he was so well behaved that Miss Watson gave him her silver coffee cup which is still now Tom’s own. He tells them about his latest escapade and eventually clears the house of all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. As he passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of needle. His offer is accepted, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tableau.

Tom comes home at supper time to a full house, glad to see that he has been skipped school that afternoon and was not discovered. Tom’s secret is still safe from his mother and sisters, but not for long. Tom’s half-brother, Ben, and his friends are about to break a window and Tom has sworn to disown his brother.

Tom goes out of the house to follow a rabbit, but the rabbit divides and Tom comes upon a whistling. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom is surprised to see a girl, Mary Engine, with her father and acquaintance. Tom and the new arrival discuss Tom’s “good name” and eventually choose to come to the way house.
